

Where the Blind Horse Sings:
Love and Healing in an Animal Sanctuary
by Kathy Stevens

Written by the founder of Catskill Animal Sanctuary, a haven for abused farm animals, are deeply moving and heartfelt accounts of animals like Dino, an old toothless pony who survived a fire and Rambo, the sheep who informs the staff when an animal needs assistance. The escapades of dozens of other horses, ponies, cows, goats, sheep, donkeys, pigs, rabbits, and birds, all larger than life are told with love.

THE COMPASSION OF ANIMALS: TRUE STORIES OF ANIMAL COURAGE AND KINDNESS
by Jeffrey Moussaieff Masson

Do animals have feelings? According to Kristin von Kreisler, the answer is an undeniable yes. Here, she shares dozens of absorbing, true stories of animals who have risked their lives to keep the human they love out of danger. These are sometimes heart wrenching, sometimes funny, and always touching anecdotes of the friendship animals have to offer.

Cat Women:

Female Writers on Their Feline
Friends
by Megan McMorris

A collection of 29 well-crafted and enjoyable short essays that focus on how the writer's cat (or cats) has affected her life. From a tale about how rescuing a stray cat ended up saving a friendship to an unapologetic piece by a confirmed — and proud! — crazy cat lady, the tales in Cat Women range from thought-provoking and heartrending to laugh-out-loud funny, all delving into the many ways these often aloof little divas touch our lives.

Sasha's Tail:
Lessons from a Life with Cats

by Jacqueline Damian

This is a sprightly and informed account of life with cats. Damian writes about the everyday encounters of her cats, focusing on Sasha, the undisputed "Alpha" of the group. Sasha is our guide to familiar feline situations: litterbox training, meetings with dogs, forays out of doors, and introductions to new cats.

CAT PEOPLE
by Michael and Margaret Korda

A personal look at a couple's infatuation with cats. The story begins before their marriage, with each having their own first cat experiences, and moves forward as they marry and begin to add cat after cat to their home. A humorous and insightful look at just how consuming cats can be for their owners.

The Cat Who Went to Paris
by Peter Gethers

At one time Peter Gethers was a confirmed cat hater. That changed when a Scottish Fold kitten named Norton entered his life. When he opened his heart to the feisty gray feline, he learned a thing or two about himself—and he and his new companion soon became inseparable, traveling to Paris, Fire Island, and even in the subways of Manhattan. Norton's tale continues in the books A Cat Abroad and The Cat Who'll Live Forever.

The Cat Who Came for Christmas
by Cleveland Amory

On a snowy Christmas Eve, Amory helped capture a scrawny white cat and took it to his apartment. How does a new cat-keeper train this creature accustomed to fending for itself in Manhattan's alleys? Amory offers an entertaining, re-creation of his first year with this former stray named Polar Bear.

My Cat Spit McGee

by Willie Morris

In this entertaining story Willie Morris (author of My Dog Skip), dog lover and "cat misanthrope" recounts how he did a pet 180, thanks to his feline-loving wife (a.k.a. "Cat Woman") and Spit McGee, a white kitten with mismatched eyes. Morris poignantly captures the deep, elusive kinship between man and kitty.

ELLA in EUROPE : An American Dog's International Adventures

by Michael Konik

Part travelogue, part valentine to a beloved pet, Ella in Europe chronicles Michael Konik's magical six-week journey through Europe with his dog, Ella. Here is the story of a bond unlike any other—and an extraordinary dog who stole her way into one man's heart.

What the Dog Did: Tales from a Formerly Reluctant Dog Owner

by Emily Yoffe

Yoffe recalls her entry into urban dog ownership—a life experience this former "cat person" thought she could avoid—in this witty memoir. After being pressured by her family into adopting a rather high-maintenance, rescued beagle, she eventually becomes a true dog lover, and Sasha becomes just the first in a series of beagle orphans to traipse through the author's home.

A Dog Year:

Twelve Months, Four Dogs and Me
by John Katz

This is a memoir of the author's year living with four dogs: two white Labs and two border collies. A story of trust and understanding, of life and death, of continuity and change, it is by turns insightful, hilarious, and deeply moving.

Dreaming in Libro: How a Good Dog Tamed a Bad Woman

by Louise Bernikow

In this witty memoir, Bernikow charts eight years with Libro as they travel through Manhattan...and that thing called Life. From book tours to beach houses, from Libro's training as pet therapist after 9/11 to his escapades on the campaign trail, a book about a modern family of two, about joy and grief, and realizing that the life you've made is more than enough.

From Baghdad, with Love: a Marine, the War, and a Dog named Lava

by Jay Kopelman with Melinda Roth

When Marines enter an abandoned house in Fallujah, Iraq, and hear a suspicious noise, they clutch their weapons, edge around the corner, and prepare to open fire. What they find is not an insurgent bent on revenge, but a tiny puppy. Despite military law that forbids the keeping of pets, the Marines take him with them. Thus begins the dramatic rescue attempt of a dog named Lava and Lava's rescue of at least one Marine from the emotional ravages of war.

THE BLESSING OF THE ANIMALS: TRUE STORIES OF GINNY, THE DOG WHO RESCUES CATS

by Philip Gonzalez

Long Island's own miracle dog, Ginny has the amazing sixth-sense ability to find and rescue ailing stray cats and her owner devotedly cares for these creatures.

Their story has been the subject of television news, talk shows and magazine articles and presented here are some of their remarkable, heartwarming adventures.

For All Animal Lovers
